

Programming Input

Information going INTO a program in different ways

Everyday Human Input

Information going INTO a person in different ways

You feel hot or cold through sensors in your skin.

You see images through your eyes.

You hear noises through your ears.

You hear words through your ears.

You smell a nasty odour through your nose.

You taste sweet or sour food through your tongue.

when space key pressed

Do something

Information input through a key press

Information input through clicking on the sprite

when this sprite clicked

Do something

Information input through clicking on green flag icon which could start multiple scripts

when green flag clicked

go to x: 0 y: 0

when green flag clicked

say I am back! for 2 secs

ask What's your name? and wait

Information input through typing into a box.

Freida

answer

Information goes into the answer block.

There are lots of other inputs and these are only a small selection.